The Lamp Staff 1972

We, the Lamp Staff of 1972, would like to help you look back on this active year as we explain what a student nurse is.

The Lamp Staff proudly dedicates our 1972 yearbook to Marion Lochbihler, who every year gives her time, experience, and most of all her patience to make the Lamp possible. Marion, we hope this somehow shows a small part of our appreciation.

Student nurses are:

. . . one of the nicest things that can happen to a hospital

They come in all sizes and shapes; they show up everywhere

A student nurse has question upon question about her career and where the future will find her. Our Director of Nursing Education, Dorothy Craig, counsels and guides students in planning for the future.

Freshman instructors: Margaret Hathaway, Marilyn Staub and Doris Valentine.

EENT: Johanne Wickstrom

Junior ccordinator: Susanne Tarr, and Freshman coordinator: Patricia Kuhs

Her hours are long, her studies are difficult, she's a hardworking young woman, full of determination, but with the help of her instructors; looks forward to her goal.

Choir

She is energy in person.

The choir met once a week under the direction of Mr. James Clouser. It performed for a winter concert held for the students and their families and entertained patients at the V. A. Hospital.

Little Lemans

School Picnic

The student council gave a picnic on the patio which was enjoyed by students and faculty. Everyone loves a free meal!

Student nurses like days off, pretty clothes and mealtime! (especially when the meal is free.)

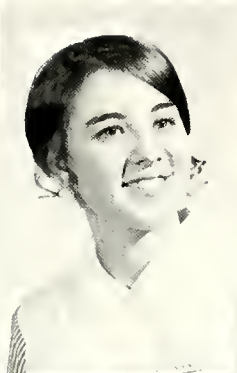

Parkview administrator, Mark Slen, and Director of Nursing, Marie Kolter, met with members of the student body, once every three months, in a cooperative effort to improve student-hospital relations.

Each year, after completion of one semester, the Freshmen receive a cap, a nurses' lamp, and a New Testament.

Capping

On January 29, 1972, 71 Freshmen received their caps at the New Haven United Methodist Church. This day marked the satisfactory completion of the first semester. A special award of merit was given to B. Long and L. Laukhuf. Following the ceremony, a reception for the Freshmen and their guests was held at English Hall.

Open House

We enjoy it so much, we share it with others.

Juniors

Junior class officers: (SEATED LEFT TO RIGHT) L. Newell; 2nd Vice-President; N. Fuller, President; C. New, 1st Vice-President and K. Hartman, Secretary. (STANDING) L. Matthews, Treasurer.

A junior student nurse is energetic and ambitious. This was demonstrated by the junior class as they continued to raise money for the junior-senior banquet. Their activities included a turkey and a ham raffle, a chili supper, cleaning the hospital grounds and various other projects.

Alumni Banquet

Graduation week festivities included a banquet given by the Parkview-Methodist School of Nursing alumni. All graduating seniors attended and thoroughly enjoyed the delicious food and special program. The previous students were encouraged to become active alumni members and were congratulated on their completion of nurses' training.

Junior - Senior Banquet

This formal affair was held in May by the Juniors in honor of the Seniors. The scene was the Baer-Field Inn, decorated to look like the country. The food was good, the band, "Walden," was great, and everyone had the best of times.

“.. Out in the country”

The day of graduation a special luncheon was held for the seniors. Administrative and supervisory personnel from the hospital also attended to give their best wishes and contratulations to the graduates.
